

Port Sanilac, MI

August 17-19, 2016

Great Lakes Wreck Diving

Experience the Great Lakes shipwrecks a short drive from home! Port Sanilac, MI is a small harbor town, with waters concealing big harbor wrecks and Great Lakes maritime history. We'll be arriving Friday evening, diving Saturday and Sunday, and driving back Sunday afternoon. Carpooling welcomed. Depths can range from 25'-100'. Potential sites include...

Regina. Built in 1907, the 250' long steel freighter Regina fell prey to the "The Great Storm" of November 9, 1913 and went missing with all hands. The ship rests upside down on the bottom in about 80' of water. There is a 56' hole in the hull that permits entry to the hold area by qualified divers. Some of her cargo can be found scattered on the lake floor.

North Star. The North Star was lost after a collision in the fog with her sister ship, the Northern Queen. A steel hulled, 300' long package freighter, she was bound for Duluth with a load of grain and shingles when she was struck and sank on November 25, 1908. She rests in about 100' of water in two pieces. Her pilothouse is intact and her engine and boilers are in place.

Sport. This small tugboat is a favorite among divers. She was built in 1873 and is important as the first steel tug on the Great Lakes. She had a long career as a working tug on the Lakes, but at 57' she was no match for a severe gale on December 13, 1920.

Excellent trip for both first-time and advanced wreck divers.
Only 5 spots for divers available!

Sites will vary depending on weather, best availability, and skill level of divers. Appropriate exposure gear required. Cold-water experience recommended, and preference given to Advanced Open Water divers.

Not Advanced Open Water? Ask about upcoming classes in Wreck Diving, Dry Suit Diving, Limited Visibility and Navigation, and Deep Diving.

Josh Teaster, OW Instructor, will guide the trip.
